FIRST LAYER

Prepare first layer strips and board as shown in video.

Starting from the bottom and moving up, begin pinning your strips in gradient order leaving no gap between the strips as you lay them. It is best if the pins enter the board at a sharp angle, with the pin heads facing the edge of the board. As you pin one side, try to pull each strip as taut as possible, stretching the fabric slightly beyond its natural state.

SECOND LAYER (strips)

To prepare the rainbow strips for the second layer, use the permanent fusible tape and iron to combine all the colors of the rainbow into a single panel. Starting with one of the 5" x WOF colors, line the tape on one of the long raw edges and press down to affix. Remove the paper. Then line the next color in order along the raw edge with the tape and press with the iron the entire length. Fold one fabric over the seam allowance and press. Follow these steps until all 8 colors are connected. Cut twenty four 2.5" rainbow strips and prepare strips as shown in the video.

SECOND LAYER (weave)

Get your 1" WEFTY and set of rainbow strips. "Thread" your WEFTY and, making certain that the color flow is the same direction as the horizontal strips, follow an alternating over-under basket weave and pinning the ends of each strip. Working your way from the inside out, alternating sides as you go, will ensure a symmetrical weave in the end.

Once all 24 strips have been woven into the horizontal strips, secure the weave using the process in the video. Once secure, trim 1/2" outside of the outer edge of the completed weave. Discard excess trimmings.

Affix fusible tape on all four raw edges of the back of the weave. Center the backing fabric on the wrong side of the weave and fuse in place with an iron. Trim excess and double fold with tape to create faux binding. Process in video.
